

GREAT LEARNING CONVERSATIONS

You're invited to the Great Learning Conversations! The Kidsburgh team is excited to be co-hosting these public conversations with eleven school districts in the greater Pittsburgh area. We want to hear from parents and caregivers on what they feel is the purpose of a child's K-12 journey. And we'll ask: How can schools and communities best partner with families? We'll also share survey and research highlights from The Brookings Institution and HundrED, as well as school-parent engagement ideas from local parents identified through IDEO's human-centered design process. Join us in this conversation as we remake learning together for our kids.
